Report on "Maintenance of Orchid Germplasm and Its Commercialization"

Organized by:

Department of Botany, Kaliabor College

In collaboration with

Department of Zoology, Kaliabor College,
Department of Biotechnology, Kaliabor College
Society for Biological Sciences, Kaliabor College

Date: 20th to 23rd September 2023

From the 20th to the 23rd of September 2023, the Department of Botany, in collaboration with the Departments of Zoology and Biotechnology, along with the Society for Biological Sciences at Kaliabor College, organized a comprehensive three-day hands-on training program on "Maintenance of Orchid Germplasm and Its Commercialization." The objective of this training was to provide students with practical knowledge and skills related to the conservation, maintenance, and commercialization of orchid germplasm. The resource persons for this training were Dr. Basistha Kalita, Mr. Chiranjeev Bezbaruah, and Dr. Dipankar Borah, all from the Department of Botany. A total of 40 students actively participated in this enriching program. The program commenced with an introduction to orchid germplasm, its significance in biodiversity conservation, and its potential for commercialization. Students learned about the diversity of orchid species. The second day was dedicated to hands-on training in orchid maintenance and propagation techniques. Students learned about the requirements of different orchid species and practiced methods for their maintenance and propagation. The final day of the program focused on strategies for commercializing orchid germplasm. Students gained insights into market trends, value addition, and the economic potential of orchids. The active participation of 40 students reflected their dedication to understanding and contributing to the conservation and economic potential of orchid germplasm. This training program underscored the institution's commitment to providing students with practical experiences and skills that are relevant to real-world challenges.
